

INTERNATIONAL INEQUALITY & DEVELOPMENT - 2017

International Inequality and Development introduces students to the relationship between global development and inequality. The courses in this major cover key issues, concepts and approaches to global development and poverty. Students are introduced to the historical as well as contemporary contexts of struggles over development and questions of inequality as well as to a range of important issues including the roles of different actors and agencies in development, ranging from international institutions to community levels groups. The major is designed to offer a solid account of how global and local development processes interact in development as well as the experiences they engender. Overall, students specialising in this major will gain a fairly comprehensive account of the complex and interdisciplinary nature of global development and inequality. At the same time, they will be able to assess and evaluate the various challenges and opportunities in development in an age of globalisation.

International Inequality and Development is a major from Part C within the Bachelor of International Studies program.

The major comprises:

#16 units

Each course is worth #2 (2 units)

#2 units for -

POLS1701 Introduction to International Inequality & Development and #4 units for –

POLS2404 The Political Dynamics of Development and Resistance
SOCY2220 Globalisation & Development in Post-Colonial Societies and #8 units from –

ANTH2060 Environmental Anthropology
ANTH2250 Medical Anthropology: Local and Global Perspectives
POLS2603 Gender and Global Politics
POLS3115 Environmental Politics & Policy
SOCY2020 Sociology of the Environment
SOSC2288 Community Development: Local and International Practices

and #2 units for –

ANTH3019 Development Practice & Social Impact

School of Social Science

(Anthropology, Archaeology, Criminology & Sociology)

The University of Queensland, Brisbane QLD 4072

Telephone: (07) 3365 3236 Facsimile: (07) 3365 1544

Email: student.socsci@uq.edu.au Internet: <http://www.social-science.uq.edu.au>

Bachelor of International Studies

The Bachelor of International Studies is a three-year (equivalent full-time) degree program which provides students with an interdisciplinary core of courses which provide grounding in the cultural and communicative aspects of globalisation and the world system. Each student completes a major in a language other than English from the wide range of languages taught at UQ and another major with strong international relevance.

The following majors are available in the Bachelor of International Studies:

- Chinese
- Chinese Translation and Interpreting
- Economics
- French
- German
- History
- Indonesian
- International Inequality and Development
- International Relations
- Italian
- Japanese
- Korean
- Peace and Conflict Studies
- Russian
- Spanish

For further information and advice on the International Inequality and Development major, contact:

School of Social Science
Telephone: 07 3365 3236
Email: student.socsci@uq.edu.au
Website: www.social-science.uq.edu.au

The course list, along with program rules and requirements for the Bachelor of International Studies can be accessed via Courses and Programs: <http://www.uq.edu.au/study>.